Finding out you have pancreatic cancer is shattering.

It is the deadliest common cancer. The brutal reality is that diagnosis comes far too late for most people. Half of people die within three months of diagnosis. And research into the disease is underfunded and left behind. So, families are left with only hope to hang on to.

But hope is not enough. The disease must be detected sooner.

And it can be.

With people running, cheering and raising funds to support the work of our researchers, we can save as many lives as runners in this great race. We can deliver more than hope to every family who is facing this devastating disease.

Why we need you

We've got an opportunity for you to come and volunteer with us as the 2025 TCS London Marathon's charity of the year.

Partnering with the London Marathon, we'll have our biggest team yet with over 800 runners to support on the day and we need you to help us give them the best experience.

After running 26.2 miles our runners will head back to our post-race reception where they can relax, eat, drink, have a massage and celebrate with their family. You could be there to welcome them back and congratulate them on their fantastic achievement.

This is a one-off volunteering role that will give you the opportunity to support our incredible team of London Marathon runners.

What you'll do

- Form part of our cheer squad at the entrance of our post-race reception venue to welcome runners
- Guide and direct friends and family within the venue
- Support our runners by chatting and congratulating them for their incredible achievement
- Check in runners – ticking them off the register and guiding them within the venue
- Raise vital awareness for Pancreatic Cancer UK by increasing our visibility

The skills you need

- Good verbal communication skills
- Lots of enthusiasm and a big smile
- Being aware of or willing to learn about pancreatic cancer and its impact on people
- You should enjoy meeting new people and being part of a team

What you can expect from us

- We'll make you feel welcome, included and respected
- Reimbursement of reasonable travel expenses in line with our Volunteer Expenses Policy
- To be part of a busy and committed team making a difference to people affected by pancreatic cancer
- Prior to the race date you'll be provided with a Pancreatic Cancer UK t-shirt and on the day, you'll be given cheering materials to use whilst cheering at the entrance to the venue
- Light refreshments provided at the post-race reception
- You'll be supported by our events team both pre event and on the day.
- We'll host an online meet up and training session for you to attend before the event day
- Valuable experience for your CV

Thank you very much for your interest in this role. We look forward to hearing from you.
